NETWORK ENGINEER

COME AND HELP TO BROADCAST MEDIA IN ESTONIA AND IN THE WORLD!

Levira is a media technology company that provides media, broadcasting and IT infrastructure services. Levira is a technology partner for companies whose business depends on technology, but who want to engage a professional service provider to create infrastructure solutions. Levira's customers are international and local media service providers, broadcasting and IT companies. Levira offers its clients a wide range of services in the fields of digital media management, TV channel publishing and distribution, terrestrial broadcasting of audiovisual content, and data center and IT services.

Network Engineer

The role of Levira's Network Engineer is to secure the trouble-free operation of Levira's media distribution network and equipment, oversee equipment lifecycles, diagnose, and solve errors and issues. Implement scripting and job automation. Offer technical insights to the sales team and, when required, engage in the procurement process. Liaise with clients, partners and suppliers.

The ideal candidate possesses:

- Vocational, applied, or higher education in IT.
- Proficiency in data networks and prior experience in network and device management.
- Expertise in Cisco and Juniper switching, routing and multicast.
- Previous experience with monitoring systems Zabbix and Nagios.
- Understanding of network security protocols and basic knowledge about virtualization.
- Excellent verbal and written communication skills in both Estonian and English.
- Readiness for occasional work-related travel outside Estonia.

Bonus points are given for passion for audio-video media technologies, understanding of VOD/OTT/DTT technologies, proficiency in building fiber optic connections and/or data networks, familiarity with NetInsight/Sony(Nevioni)/Ateme devices, intermediate-level expertise in Linux and Windows server and application management.

Levira offers:

- A supportive and professional team from whom there is always something new to learn!
- An open and friendly work culture, exciting projects, and opportunities for professional development.
- Annual bonus up to 1.5 monthly salaries, in addition to regular vacation, additional winter vacation, employer's health insurance and a wide range of different sports opportunities.
- A unique workplace in Tallinn TV Tower with the opportunity to enjoy the view from Tallinn's cloud border at the end of the working day.
